

FINGERPRINTS OF SEIZED HALL KIN FOUND ON CARD ON PASTOR'S BODY

New Evidence Startles Court At Bail Hearing

By H. S. DENLINGER

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Aug. 26.—The most sensational evidence so far gleaned in the second investigation into the Hall-Mills murder was revealed today by Senator Simpson before Justice Charles W. Parker during the bail hearing of Henry de la Bruyere Carpenter and Willie Stevens, cousin and brother of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, respectively.

"I have found the calling card of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, which was propped against his feet when his body and that of Mrs. Eleanor Mills were found two days after the murders on September 14, 1922," he declared, "and it contains the fingerprints of one of the three defendants."

The statement stunned the court and courtroom.

While Carpenter and Stevens were fighting for liberty, Mrs. Hall, also charged with the murder, was free in $15,000 bail. Simpson would not say whose fingerprints were on the card.

His admission of this evidence came during an argument with Robert H. McCarter and Timothy N. Pfeiffer before Judge Parker as to whether new evidence should be admitted. McCarter opened the verbal battle with the assertion that he wanted no new evidence admitted.

"I just want to read an addendum," he said. "Isn't that new evidence?" asked Senator Simpson.

McCarter half heartedly admitted it was.

Admits New Evidence

The justice decided that new evidence should be admitted, and this brought another outburst from McCarter. Simpson countered with his statement in regard to the calling card.

After the commotion over the assertion had died down McCarter went into the history of bail, apparently trying desperately to get

'Messiah' Arrives Despite Charges to Spread Gospel

Jeddu Krishnamurti, hailed by 100,000 Theosophists as the new "Vehicle for the World Teacher," the new "Messiah," today is "seeing" New York.

The young "holy man" appears to be a shy, frightened, nice-looking Hindu boy. He was accompanied by Dr. Annie Besant, the 79-year-old international head of the Theosophists, who is his guardian and sponsor. She founded, in 1911, the Order of the Star in the East, to prepare for the coming of the "Vehicle."

In spite of rumors that Krishnamurti might be held at Ellis Island because of anonymous charges of moral turpitude involving one of his teachers, he was admitted for a three months' visit without question.

"Do you believe that you are the second Christ?" he was asked.

"No, but I believe that I am to be the new Vehicle for the World Teacher," he replied. "That spirit has already made use of my body to speak from."

"My message to the whole world is happiness," he said.

'Super-Youth' Slayer Raving Mad in Hospital

Madness has claimed Emanuel Silberstein of 1358 57th St., Brooklyn, the 19-year-old "rebel of society," who forty-eight hours ago with a hammer beat into bits the skull of James H. Calish, 63, of 301 Putnam Ave., while the latter

Through the corridors of Kings County Hospital, where the youth is held for observation today, came blood-curdling and maniacal shrieks.

The youthful killer was in a straight-jacket. With the coming of dawn today the last remnant of his reason tottered.

He screamed incoherent and meaningless phrases, raving in the clutch of insanity.

Very Dangerous

"He is very, very dangerous," said Dr. Mortimer Scheer, in charge of the psychopathic ward.

In the waiting room huddled a white-haired woman, her eyes dilated with pain and fear—his mother.

Beside her, patting her hand, sat the boy's father. He had closed his little tailor shop at 1358 57th St. to come to the hospital with "mother."

May Never Recover

"Will he recover his reason?" they asked Dr. Scheer.

"Perhaps. We will have to go very, very slow with him in our observation. It will take fully ten days. He may become more dangerous and violent."

Alfred H. Sanger, of 532 West

182d St. called at the Morgue, where the body of the victim lies, and stated he would arrange for the funeral.

"I was associated with Mr. Calish in his Wall Street office," he explained. "A charming man, cultured, kindly, charitable."

Sleeping Woman Killed by Tumble From Bed to Floor

Mrs. Catherine Lefevre, 46, of 435 West 45th St., was killed when she fell from the bed in which she had been sleeping to the floor in her home.

Her husband, Otto, returning from work last night, saw her lying on the floor. He told the police he believed she was drunk. He went out and returned in the morning. When he discovered her in the same position he called doctors who said she had died almost instantly from a fractured skull.

Cop Saves Man From Mob After Girl Is Hit in 'L' Car

A raging crowd of 500 persons on the southbound form of the 33d Street station of the 6th Avenue "L" attempted to beat to death a negro who had struck a white girl in the face when she attempted to get off a train.

His life was saved by Special Officer Albert Bulmer, who raced from the end of the platform when he heard shouts of a frage, shrieks, and saw the angry mob pouring from the train, grabbing at the frightened negro.

Holds Throng at Bay

With drawn revolver, he held the teeming throng at bay, herding the negro and the girl behind him. "Let us at him! We'll kill the rat!" shouted men in the crowd.

"A step near and I'll fire," shouted Bulmer. By this time the motorman of the train was blowing its whistle. Patrolman William Lackey, several other policemen and Bulmer hustled the girl, who was sobbing, and the negro to West 30th Street station.

Medical attention was necessary for the girl. Witnesses said she had been struck between the eyes by the doubled fist of her assailant. She gave her name as May Hickey, 20, of 309 West 55th St.

The negro said he was Julian Van Kummer, 22, of 251 West 142d St.

"I was trying to get off the train," Miss Hickey said. "This man pushed and shoved me. I told him I was trying to get off and to stop. He immediately doubled his fist and struck me with all his force between the eyes."

Passengers substantiated her story. A mob had followed her to the police station to aid her. She exhibited a blackened and swollen right eye.
